PROJECTS

In my first project, I developed an interactive web application, which allowed me to gain practical experience in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, MySQL and PHP. I learned how to create dynamic user interfaces, manage version control with Git, and debug code efficiently.

Since then, I have successfully completed a variety of projects, including e-commerce platforms, real estate websites, and inventory management systems. Currently, I am working on the landcruisernepal.com project, where I am further honing my skills and contributing to the development of a comprehensive online platform. These experiences have collectively enhanced my technical expertise and problem-solving abilities in web development.

Projects that I have done are available on my website: https://rohitbudhathoki.com.np/
